WELCOME

TO A CELEBRATION OF HEALTH

We welcome you tonight to Bloom '10: ICHS Annual Gala.
Thank you for joining us and showing your support of International Community Health Services (ICHS).

Your presence demonstrates that you care about affordable, accessible, culturally and linguistically competent health care. As Teresita Batayola, CEO of ICHS, often says, "Health care is a right, not a privilege!"

We applaud the passage of federal health care reform as it will ensure that 30 million more Americans will have access to health care. But we are also concerned that this historic legislation will take time to implement; our patients have needs that must be addressed now and have significant financial implications to them and ICHS.

ICHS remains committed to serving all members of the community. For the past two years, we have been facing critical financial challenges as ICHS must respond to a greater demand for our health services from a growing number of patients who have little or no health insurance. We have been providing over $1.5 million of charity care per year, and these costs continue to rise due to the current economic climate.

ICHS continues to provide a safety net to those most in need. ICHS serves approximately 17,000 patients each year. Of these patients:

- 97% belong to communities of color
- 79% prefer to speak languages other than English
- 73% are low-income

Your presence here tonight, and your contributions to the ICHS Foundation and its Uncle Bob Fund for uninsured patients, will ensure that the health needs of our community can be met and our community's health continues to bloom.

Sincerely,

Charles Wu
ICHS Foundation Board President

March 30, 2010

Dear Friends:

Welcome to the International Community Health Services (ICHS) "Bloom 2010" Gala. I am pleased to serve as honorary co-chair for the ICHS Gala with former King County Executive and current U.S. Department of Urban Development Deputy Secretary Ron Sims.

ICHS currently operates the largest Asian and Pacific Islander non-profit community health center in Washington state. This organization provides access to medical and dental clinics in the International District and Holly Park and offers medical, dental and preventative health education services for our diverse and underserved populations. The Gala event helps raise funds to support these affordable health care services.

I am a very big supporter of this organization's work and am honored to be included in this evening's festivities.

Sincerely,

Dow Constantine
King County Executive

May 15, 2010

Dear Friends,

It is with great pleasure that I extend my warmest greetings to everyone attending the International Community Health Center's (ICHS) "Bloom 2010." I join you in celebrating the organization's dedication to serving the region's Asian Pacific Islander community.

A valued leader in community health care, ICHS provides medical, dental and preventative health education services for the diverse and underserved populations of the Pacific Northwest. It consistently works to ensure that individuals and families have access to the tools and resources necessary to maintain healthy lifestyles. Through its culturally and linguistically appropriate health services, ICHS is enhancing the quality of life for hundreds of people.

I extend my heartfelt appreciation to ICHS, its staff, supporters and volunteers for their ongoing commitment to serving the community. Best wishes for a memorable evening and for continuing success in the years ahead.

Sincerely,

A Message from U.S. Senator Patty Murray

Dear Friends:

I am thrilled to join International Community Health Services (ICHS) in this new gala tradition, Bloom 2010!

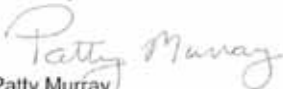

John F. Kennedy once said: "One person can make a difference, and everyone should try." You are making a difference by attending this event, sharing your stories and making your voices heard on this critical issue.

When my parents were in their 60s, their medical bills were massive. My father was desperate to turn 65, because he was not sure how much longer he could afford insurance or how much longer they would cover him. I'll never forget how much they needed Medicare. I'll never forget how they relied on the protection – and the peace of mind – it provided them.

When I came to the U.S. Senate, I promised myself that I would make sure health care was there for the people I represent – just as it was there for my parents. So, I encourage you to continue to stand up and speak out.

My friends, in conclusion, please remember that what you are doing is not just about health or health care. It is about our economy, our quality of life, and building strong communities.

Sincerely,

Patty Murray
United States Senator

GREETINGS

March 19, 2010

Greetings!

As Mayor of the City of Seattle, it is my pleasure to welcome you to the

International Community Health Services Foundation
2010 ICHS Gala, "Bloom"

Thank you for joining to celebrate ICHS' fundamentally important work in creating a healthy and vibrant community. Since 1973, ICHS has been dedicated to ensuring that affordable, culturally relevant health care is available to all. Every year, ICHS serves approximately 18,000 patients in fourteen languages from two clinics in Seattle – in the International District and Holly Park. The clinics offer a full range of health services, including medical, dental, pharmacy, and laboratory services. The International District clinic also offers acupuncture and traditional Chinese medicine.

ICHS is committed to serving community members regardless of their ability to pay – a vital effort during these uncertain economic times. ICHS must respond to a greater demand for health services while also serving a growing number of patients who have little or no health insurance. ICHS provides over $1.5 million of charity care to patients yearly, many of whom are low-income or limited-English proficient.

The work of ICHS helps provide a safety net to those most in need and exemplifies the best of Seattle – a city of engaged, concerned, and capable people helping each other.

Have an outstanding evening, to benefit an outstanding organization!

Sincerely,

Michael McGinn
Mayor of Seattle

HONORARY CO-CHAIRS

RON SIMS

Deputy Secretary, U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development

Ron Sims was unanimously confirmed by the U.S. Senate on May 6, 2009, and sworn in as the Deputy Secretary for the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development on May 8, 2009. As the second most senior official at HUD, Sims is responsible for managing the Department's day-to-day operations, a nearly $40 billion annual operating budget, and the agency's 8,500 employees.

Sims previously served as the Executive for King County, Washington, the 13th largest county in the nation in a metropolitan area of 1.8 million residents and 39 cities including the cities of Seattle, Bellevue and Redmond.

DOW CONSTANTINE

King County Executive

Dow Constantine was sworn in as King County Executive on November 24, 2009. Dow is working to instill a culture of performance that changes the way King County does business. He is forging partnerships with residents, cities, employees and other county leaders to craft real, sustainable reforms.

A seven-year member of the King County Council, Dow also served on the Washington state Senate and House of Representatives. He has been a member of the Sound Transit Board of Directors since 2006. Dow is a three-time University of Washington alumnus and an attorney licensed in Washington for the past 19 years.

BAMBOO AWARD FOR HEALTH

2010 RECIPIENTS OF THE ICHS BAMBOO AWARD FOR HEALTH

2010 marks the inaugural year of the Bamboo Award for Health. This award was established by the Boards of International Community Health Services (ICHS) and the ICHS Foundation for the purpose of recognizing outstanding individuals or agencies whose strong achievement has resulted in the betterment of health for ICHS, local Asian Pacific Islander (API), and other communities. Each award recipient exemplifies the bamboo's tough, resilient, sustainable, and healing qualities.

Nominees for the award aligned with one or more of the following criteria:

- increased access to health services for ICHS patients, clients, and/or the local Asian Pacific Islander and other communities;
- improved measurable health outcomes for ICHS patients, clients, and/or the local Asian Pacific Islander and other communities;
- increased resources that allow ICHS to serve and/or expand its patient and client populations

HEALTHY WASHINGTON COALITION

The Healthy Washington Coalition is the largest health care reform organization that has existed in Washington State in recent history. They are instrumental in grassroots-organizing through rallies statewide, mass phone calls and emails to elected officials and other decision makers, articles and editorials; and distributing timely analysis of the many proposals and legislation regarding national health care reform, proposals and legislation regarding the state budget and cuts as well as state health care reform when it was in active discussion between the Governor and the State legislature. In addition, they have championed community health, specifically fighting against cuts to Basic Health, GA-U, medical interpretation and other health care services that affect the uninsured and underinsured.

The Coalition includes labor unions, business organizations, business leaders, health care providers, hospitals, consumer groups and public interest groups. The Coalition's goal is to secure, quality, affordable health care for all Washingtonians with a broad ranging agenda that is meant to improve the health care system through ambitious reform while ensuring the system is financed.

The Coalition began more than five years ago as the Health Care for Washington Workers Coalition. By 2007, the Coalition decided there was a need to develop and support a broad comprehensive vision for Washington's health care system. The Coalition renamed itself the Healthy Washington Coalition and adopted a set of principles that guides the Coalition's legislative goals. The membership of the Coalition is growing weekly and is dedicated to ensuring that Washington State has quality affordable health care coverage for all of its residents.

BOB SANTOS

Bob Santos is pivotal to the founding of ICHS to serve the frail and isolated Filipino and Chinese elderly communities in the International District (ID) and Pioneer Square areas. A man of tremendous belief in equality and civil rights, Bob fought not just for a clinic but for housing, social services, and community redevelopment of the ID and eventually other parts of underserved Seattle. Today, in retirement, he continues to be active and make an impact in many areas including being a known patient of ICHS and annually raising funds through the Uncle Bob Dance at the Gala.

An excerpt from the Seattle Civil Rights and Labor History Project:

Robert “Bob” Santos, is the most publicly recognized spokesperson and leader of the movement that began in the 1970s to preserve Seattle’s Chinatown/ International District (ID).

In the 1960s, Santos became involved in civil rights struggles through his involvement with the Catholic Church and the encouragement of Catholic Interracial Council co-founder Walt Hubbard. While working at the Catholic-run St. Peter Claver Center in the late 1960s, Santos was able to provide free meeting space to some of the most radical civil rights groups in the city, thereby helping facilitate a multiracial civil rights sensibility among Seattle activists by making the Center what he called “the Heart of the Struggle.” In 1969, he was elected President of HSeattle’s Catholic Interracial Council.

From 1972 to 1989, Santos served as Executive Director of the International

District Improvement Association (Inter*Im). In this position, he was a pivotal liaison between community activists, private businesses, and government agencies in developing and overseeing ID preservation plans. The group’s agenda included increasing the ID’s affordable housing stock; preserving its culturally distinct small businesses; and providing the neighborhood a range of culturally appropriate social services, particularly for its Asian elderly. Through Santos’s leadership in the ID, he helped mentor a generation of young Asian activists in Seattle, earning him the nickname “Uncle Bob.”

In 1982—along with other “Gang of Four” friends Bernie Whitebear, Larry Gossett, and Roberto Maestas—Bob Santos co-founded the Minority Executive Director’s Coalition. From 1989 to 1993, he oversaw the Seattle Chinatown/ International District Preservation Authority. He served as Regional Director of the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) from 1994 to 2001.

In 2002, Santos published an autobiography—Humbows, Not Hotdogs!: Memoirs of a Savvy Asian American Activist—which is a very important source of information about the multiracial coalitions that comprised Seattle’s civil rights movements in the late 1960s and 1970s. Soon after the book’s publication, he returned to his position as Executive Director of Inter*Im, where he worked until retiring in 2005.

TONIGHT'S ENTERTAINMENT

MASSIVE MONKEES

MASSIVE MONKEES

Massive Monkees is an unsurpassed crew of energetic b-boys/b-girls (break dancers) in addition to being a collective of artists, musicians, and teachers.

Massive Monkees formed in the summer of 1999, which marked the end of the BOSS (Breaking Old School Style) crew era and the general decline of Seattle's b-boy scene from its golden age. MASSIVE (Manifesting Artistic Street Styles In Various Expressions) crew, however, was one of a small group of crews that rose from the ashes.

In the beginning, Massive Monkees demonstrated the importance of balancing teamwork and their individual aspirations. The apparent leaders – Jeromeskee and Juseboogy, created the first crew routines together, setting off a chain reaction that would lead the Massive Monkees to reign over the world! Since then, Dancin' Domes has been a major force in helping shape the crew's group choreography. As well as innovating routines in the b-boy community, Massive Monkees also reinvented the concept of "commandos" – b-boy transitions between one or more dancers.

Dancing aside, Massive Monkees are notorious for their sideways sense of humor, colorful characters, and family ethic. Like any other group, they have their share of struggles and hardships peppered amongst their success, but at the end of the day, what matters most is that they are a family.

TONY MAMON

Jazz pianist Tony Mamon was born into a musical family and is an instrumentalist and vocalist. He is a product of the Seattle Public Schools system, having attended Bailey Gatzert, Van Asselt, (where he lived in nearby Holly Park Project) Sharples, Asa Mercer, Franklin High School and the University of Washington. He is also active with the Bel Canto Performing Arts Society, a non-profit organization. In addition to performing at private and corporate events, Mamon is an emerging composer and arranger in the smooth jazz genre.

His compositions can be heard at www.tonymamon.com. For booking and additional information call (206) 329-8057.

SEATTLE CHINESE COMMUNITY GIRLS DRILL TEAM

The Seattle Chinese Community Girls Drill Team has continuously served the girls of the community since 1952. The all-volunteer, non-profit organization provides and supports opportunities to develop friendships, self-confidence, and teamwork and leadership skills.

This colorful, award-winning unit has performed in every major parade in the Pacific Northwest, as well as San Francisco's Chinese New Year Parade, Portland Rose Festival and events in Philadelphia, Disneyland, Washington DC and the Republic of China, Taiwan.

The team's uniforms are replicas of the Chinese Opera Imperial Warrior Uniform. Handmade in China, the colorful red satin uniforms are trimmed in gold and silver sequins with approximately 7,000 beads patterned in an intricate floral design.

Now in its fifth decade, the Seattle Chinese Community Girls Drill Team continues to represent the Pacific Northwest, as a crowd-pleasing, award-winning, precision-marching unit.

THE UNCLE BOB FUND

HELP UNINSURED PATIENTS BY DANCING WITH UNCLE BOB

Annually, ICHS spends more than $1.5 million on health care services for patients who have little or no insurance. In 2009, over 22% of ICHS patients were uninsured.

We invite you to dance with Uncle Bob Santos tonight and contribute to the Uncle Bob Fund. Named after Bob Santos, a recipient of the Bamboo Award for Health this evening, we established this special fund to provide financial support for the increasing number of uninsured or underinsured patients who walk through our clinic doors each year.

Please take a moment to complete the information on the Uncle Bob Dance envelope, include a contribution, and give it to Uncle Bob and his fellow dancers as they dance by your table.

We welcome everyone to join in the dancing!
